

Kristin Olson is the Assistant Director of Academic Initiatives in Housing and Residence Life at Boise State University. Among other responsibilities in this role, Kristin created, manages and continues to oversee the Conflict Management Resource Center - a resource to support students on the campus as they are navigating conflict. Kristin previously worked as the Director of Student Conduct at the University of Denver. During her time in Denver, Kristin trained as a professional mediator, earned her Conflict Coaching certification, and developed a restorative justice process as an alternative dispute resolution pathway for students on campus. Kristin became a Certified Professional Mediator in Idaho in October of 2020 and served briefly as the IMA treasurer during a transition in this position.