

Professor Blondell is an Associate Professor of Law and Practice and the Faculty Director of the Straus Institute for Dispute Resolution. Professor Blondell directs the Straus Mediation Clinic and teaches Mediation Theory and Practice, Psychology of Conflict, and Ethical Lawyering. Professor Blondell also is a lead faculty for the Women's Negotiation Academy and teaches the Straus Professional Skills training, Mediating the Litigated Case domestically, and internationally. Prior to joining the Pepperdine community, Professor Blondell served as the Manager of the King County Alternative Dispute Resolution Program and Interlocal Conflict Resolution Group, a labor-management and public policy mediation program serving a tricity region in Seattle. Professor Blondell also served as the Alternative Dispute Resolution Coordinator for the City of Seattle where she designed and implemented an employment mediation program for the City government in a joint labor-management context.

Professor Blondell was also the Court and Program Manager for the Dispute Resolution Center of King County, managing the mediation activities of twelve divisions of the district court. In these capacities, Professor Blondell trained and supervised the mediation practicum of over a hundred law students, attorneys, and non-attorneys. It is here she developed a passion for teaching the practical skills needed at the mediation table and instilling rigorous and ethical professionalism to new lawyers in a classroom and clinical setting. Professor Blondell earned her J.D. from the University of Washington School of Law and her B.A. from Brown University, with honors. She is the 2021 recipient of the Southern California Mediation Association President's Award.
