

Rebecca Wood Anderson is a Shareholder at Jones Williams Fuhrman and Gourley, P.A. and is member of the Idaho, Oregon and California State Bars. Rebecca has 30 years of experience in commercial real estate and business law and dispute resolution, focusing much of her practice on high stakes “work-outs” of complex disputes both in litigation and outside of litigation. Rebecca leads her firm's Dispute Resolution practice and provides mediation, advocacy and facilitation services in all types of disputes including those arising in business, real estate and employment settings and divorce and trust/estates proceedings. She combines her extensive legal knowledge and negotiation/deal-making skills with her ability to navigate difficult emotions to lead parties to win/win outcomes. Rebecca is especially skilled at understanding and connecting with people, thinking outside-the-box, and using her transactional expertise to “build” deals out of disputes. Rebecca also serves as "co-counsel" in difficult divorce and estate cases involving high net worth clients and complex business and real estate holdings, providing transactional expertise and guidance to her litigation co-counsel.

Rebecca holds the Top Rated Distinction by Martindale-Hubbell in both Dispute Resolution and Commercial Real Estate Law and is AV rated by Martindale-Hubbell. She serves as an Adjunct Professor at Boise State University teaching Dispute Resolution courses and has also taught workshops and short courses at University of Oregon. Rebecca provides conflict resolution training to businesses and non-profit entities and provides conflict strategy services to an array of clients. Rebecca is also an artist and has taught watercolor painting to hundreds of students at the YMCA, Boise School District and other venues. Rebecca’s passion is to combine her artistic side with her conflict resolution skills, offering an “Art of Conflict Resolution” course to universities, businesses and the community which teaches people conflict resolution skills through the painting process.

Rebecca has four children, one stepson and an adventuresome husband and loves to mountain bike, road bike, ski, backpack and paint in her spare time with her family.
